PREP, COOK, AND SERVE - ALFRESCO'S SELECTION OF ISLAND ACCESSORIES COMPLETE THE OUTDOOR DREAM KITCHEN

COMMERCE, Calif. (Sept. 10, 2007) – As a leading manufacturer of the nation's top restaurant and hotel culinary equipment, Alfresco's impressive experience has helped to create an Open Air Culinary System that would make any professional chef feel right at home. While the centerpiece of the company's system is the LX2 gas grill, Alfresco's supporting cast of outdoor stainless steel island accessories are what completes the experience, making outdoor cooking a true pleasure.

"To make a professional kitchen fully functional, the area is broken down into zones," said Dale Seiden, vice president of Alfresco. "To bring the same principle to the outdoor kitchen, we've incorporated those same zones - prep, cooking, plate and serve – plus added the important entertaining zone. All the accessories needed have been designed to accomplish a truly harmonious flow."

Alfresco's island accessories make meal preparation in the outdoor kitchen a fun, simple and organized process and keep everything the chef needs at arms reach. Designed to work in combination with the company's gas grills and refrigeration units, stainless steel accessories include a prep and hand wash sink featuring hot and cold faucets, a removable cutting board and paper towel dispenser. The waste chute and trash center features a sliding cutting board with stainless steel cover. Ideal for keeping a standard size trash can out-of-sight, the chute empties into an under counter cabinet.

To keep ribs and hamburgers warm until served, food can be held in a 30-inch wide warming and storage drawer with electronic temperature control and removable stainless steel food pans. When it's time to eat, a restaurant-inspired plating and garnish center containing food pans, a carving board and plate storage, makes serving a breeze.

For outdoor storage, Alfresco offers a two or three drawer utility unit with top utensil drawer and lower removable stainless steel pans. Also available is a completely sealed dry storage pantry in four sizes complete with interior drawers and shelves. Perfect for condiments and bottles, Alfresco also offers a set of general-purpose access doors with inside storage rail.
